

Abstract

The invention relates to vegetable protein preparations (isolates and concentrates) with improved sensory properties due to enzymatic treatment of the raw material with a lipase during the isolation process and the use of these protein preparations.